Vinson Supports Proposed Cuts In Armed Forces

Approves Plan After Assurance Strength Will Be Maintained

By United Press

Despite the threatening Far East situation, Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee today threw his support behind the administration's plan to reduce the armed forces slightly.

The veteran Georgia Democrat told the House Rules Committee today, after hearing testimony from top defense officials on the manpower cut and receiving assurances that the new Army level of 2,850,000 would be maintained indefinitely, "I had no hesitation in saying it (the cut) would have my wholehearted support."

Vinson appeared before the Rules Committee to obtain clearances for the start of House debate Tuesday on the extension of the draft law for four years. Its passage appeared assured.

The reduction of manpower will slice about 140,000 from the Army next year, despite protests by Army Chief of Staff Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

"I take the position," Vinson said, "that it's far better to have stability—a ceiling as well as a floor—than to give Ridgway what he asks for in fiscal 1956 and then in another year to come down again."

Other congressional news:

Trade: House hearings on President Eisenhower's proposal to extend the reciprocal trade and tariff-cutting program for three years neared an end with four congressmen, three of whom were Republicans, opposing it as a threat to domestic employment.

Military pay: Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson appealed to the House Armed Services Committee to support the administration's plan to boost military pay by $729,660,000 because present scales "invite and encourage mediocrity."

He said a major general or rear admiral's pay the past 45 years has been increased only 50 per cent, compared with nearly 800 per cent for enlisted men.

Benefit: The Senate Labor and Education Committee unanimously approved a bill to permit some 1,400,000 servicemen and women to continue to accumulate GI educational benefits beyond the cut-off date decreed by President Eisenhower. The bill stipulates that persons in service on Jan. 31 are eligible.

Civil Defense: Rep. Richard Bolling (D-Mo.) re-introduced a bill calling for the dispersal of both American homes and industries as the most "effective" means of minimizing the damage from an atomic or hydrogen bomb attack.

Cold Rains Soak Dixie; Flood Warnings Issued

By United Press

Flood warnings were issued for parts of Alabama and Georgia today as cold rains pounded much of the deep South.

The Southland was soaked by rains that measured nine inches deep at Pensacola, Fla., Sunday and sent floodwaters pouring into the city's streets and low-lying areas.

Many Southern rivers swirled dangerously towards flood stage today as the rains continued.

Elsewhere in the nation, heavy snow warnings were issued for Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine and the mercury plummeted to 14 below zero at Grantsburg, Wis.

The rains which swept Dixie posed a threat of tornadoes in Alabama and Georgia for a while and took the form of severe thunderstorms in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

Mr. McGehee completed a half century of membership on Feb. 3. Other members holding 50-year certificates include J. M. Pruett, George G. Muge, Thomas D. Gregg and Ownly Furmann, all of this city.

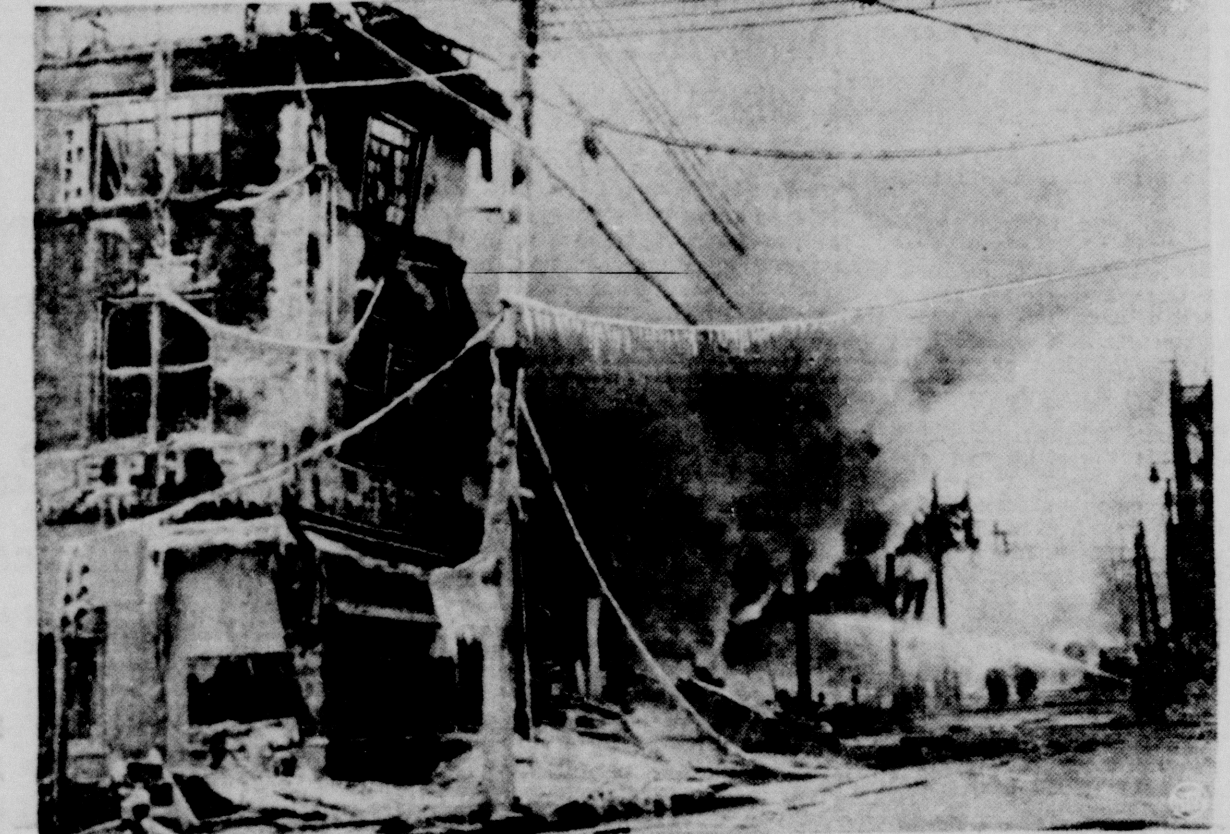

All Royal Arch Masons are invited to attend this meeting, at which the Royal Arch degree will be conferred on two candidates.

Officers of Saline chapter arranging this meeting are C. Lendall, Rockwell of Raleigh, high priest; Louie M. Stricklin of Harrisburg, king; and Jesse A. Chastain of Eldorado, secretary.

FIRE DEVASTATES Two Pennsylvania Cities—

Seeking to save yet-untouched property, firemen in Shenandoah, Pa., right, are silhouetted by light from a house-turned-furnace as they fight a fire which destroyed or damaged some 40 buildings and left 300 persons homeless in near-zero weather. At nearby Carbondale, Pa., below, firemen battle a still-blazing building in midst of ice-encrusted ruins of what once was the city's business district. No one was reported killed in either conflagration but damage in the two communities is estimated in millions of dollars.

Court Reverses Decision Paving Way for GOP Vote in Demo Primary in Chicago

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The Illinois Supreme Court today reversed a decision that would have paved the way for Republicans to take part in the Democratic primary election in Chicago Feb. 22.

The court heard oral arguments on both sides and then deliberated only about 10 minutes before announcing its ruling. Justices said they previously had studied and debated written briefs, submitted earlier.

No formal written opinion was filed. Justice Walter V. Schafer made the brief announcement for the court, saying simply "the judgment of the Circuit Court of Cook County is reversed."

In a second case, the court ruled

State Police Raid Four Places in Alexander County

DU QUOIN, Ill.—State Police Capt. Walter Eichen said today against holders of licenses for four night clubs involved in gambling raids in Alexander county.

Eichen conferred with the state's attorney and said he would go to Cairo this afternoon to sign the gambling charges against the clubs.

Eichen said he and 12 officers seized gambling equipment and cash in raids Sunday against the Purple Grackle, on Ill. 46; Becky's Club Charming, on U. S. 51 north of Cairo; El Patio, also north of Cairo at the junction of U. S. 51 and Ill. 3; and Cairo's Turf Club.

He said other spots had been checked on the countryside tour, but had been found not to have gambling equipment.

Gambling Raid By Officers in East Harrisburg

The Saline county sheriff's force, with members of the Illinois state police co-operating, staged Sunday in east Harrisburg early Sunday which resulted in six arrests and the confiscation of beer, whisky and equipment.

Sheriff William T. Barrett said that 11 persons were in the house in the area back of Route 45, a short distance outside the city limits, when the officers went in about 1 a. m.

Making the raid were Sheriff Barrett, Deputies Everett N. Sneed, James Lyon and Jeff Stricklin, State Police Sgt. Murray Stinson and State Police Officer Adolph Sweet.

State's Attorney K. C. Ronalds today said that charges of operating a gambling house and illegal sale of liquor were filed against Hazel Neal, who told Barrett he was the operator of the place, and that charges of carrying a concealed weapon were filed against Oral Stanley. The two were brought to the Saline county jail.

Also, four men who were playing poker at the time the officers entered were taken before Justice of the Peace Charles McKenzie and each pleaded guilty to charges of gambling. Their fines and costs totalled $19.30 each.

Barrett reported that 12 pints of whisky taken from a closet, 50 cans of beer taken from an ice box, three sets of dice, a dice table, nine decks of cards, a poker table and six chairs were confiscated.

Warns U.S. Must Not Forget West Germany

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey warned today that the United States must not let Communist flare-ups in the Far East divert its attention from the "more critical situation" in West Germany.

The Minnesota Democrat, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview with the United Press that "I believe one reason for this situation in the Far East is the Soviet desire to divert our attention from the even more critical situation in Western Europe and the inclusion of West Germany in the rearming of free nations."

Part of Broad Pattern
"We must not forget that what is going on in the Far East is only part of the broader pattern of Soviet strategy to divert us into the Far East while they gobble up what they want in Western Europe," Humphrey said.

Does he think the Chinese Communists are merely bluffing?
"I don't think we ought to assume that they won't try everything," he said. "I think they are willing to take all kinds of chances and we have got to be prepared to meet those risks and check them."

What about his temporarily stalled resolution urging the President to seek ceasefire talks through the United Nations?
"I think the Senate missed the boat (by not approving the resolution last week) in view of the subsequent Communist Chinese refusal. We could have very well gone on record in support of the U. N. and the effort to bring peace. But just as the Red Chinese refused to accept, so did some of our Republican friends refuse to support our own effort in the U. N."

Referring to Knowland
He was referring mainly to Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland.

Humphrey said he would bring up the resolution again today at a closed meeting of the foreign relations committee. But he was doubtful of pressing for a vote in view of the Red Chinese rejection.

Humphrey said he has "never been able to understand" why Knowland "and others have been such bitter critics, and registered such strong opposition to U. N. proposals."

Humphrey said "we ought to realize that one reason the Soviets prefer a separate conference" outside the U. N. "is because they can forward their own objective of dividing the United States from our allies."

Pinay Tries For New Gov't
PARIS — Antoine Pinay, a smalltown businessman who served as premier for eight months and 15 days and didn't like it, said today he hoped to form France's 21st postwar government by Thursday.

Pinay, 63, agreed Sunday night to accept President Rene Coty's mandate. But when the National Assembly voted him out of office two days before Christmas, 1952, he said, "I won't go back before that lion's den again."

Pinay began his drive for a new cabinet with a touch of the same brusqueness that won Pierre Mendes-France the nickname of "Mr. France" before he was toppled from the premiership Saturday. But it was considered almost certain the National Assembly would reject Pinay's first bid for office so it could see who else would be offered the job.

Pinay's first act was to summon to Paris the three top French leaders in North Africa and to put off the departure of new Algerian Governor-General Jacques Soustelle. Mendes-France fell in a vote of confidence on North African policies.

Miss Ellen Dallas Tours South With Indiana U. Girls' Chorus
Miss Ellen Dallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Dallas, Carver Mills, is a member of a 40-voice girls' chorus from Indiana university, the "Belles of Indiana," which is now on a tour of Army and Air Force bases and exclusive hotels in the South.

This year's tour is the second in as many years for the "Belles," who received a great deal of enthusiasm on their initial trip last year.

A senior in the school of music at Indiana, Miss Dallas will graduate at the end of the spring term. She was a member of the "Belles" last year also, when a full-page color picture of the group appeared in Life magazine.

Dulles, Eisenhower Confer; Sec'y Meets with British, New Zealand Ambassadors

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred repeatedly with President Eisenhower and the British and New Zealand ambassadors today on the Formosan crisis.

It was believed that Dulles, just back from a week's vacation in the Bahamas, brought himself up to date on the American-protected evacuation of Chinese Nationalists from the Tachen Islands and on continuing diplomatic efforts for a ceasefire in the fighting between the Chinese Nationalists and Reds.

Dulles conferred first with Mr. Eisenhower, then met for 25 minutes with New Zealand Ambassador Leslie Knox Munro who has been playing a leading role in efforts to arrange a ceasefire.

"Full Discussion"
Munro told reporters he had a full discussion with Dulles "on the situation in the Far East," but he refused to go into details.

Dulles then met with British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins, who said he planned to "exchange views with Dulles on all the things that have happened since he's been away." He called the attention of reporters to a recent statement of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden which, Makins said, called for the world to give diplomacy "a chance" to work out the Formosan problem.

Meanwhile, Sen. Walter F. George said Red China may come up with a counter-proposal for a ceasefire.

The Georgia Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen he thought the Chinese Communists "hurt themselves," particularly with the British Commonwealth nations, by the curtness of their refusal to take part in United Nations ceasefire talks.

As a result, he said, he does not rule out the possibility of an eventual Communist counter proposal to relieve tension in the Far East where the United States has laid down a peace-or-war challenge to Red China.

Treaty Reservation Efforts
George also told newsmen he believes the Senate will approve without any difficulty the mutual defense treaty with Formosa when it finally comes to a vote. But he said efforts may be made to write reservations into it.

George said there is a slight chance for final Senate action this week if the committee can approve the pact Tuesday. If floor action is not completed by Thursday, Friday, however, a final showdown will be delayed until Feb. 21 or later because of the "no business" agreement during the Republicans' Lincoln Day speech-making season this month.

Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ind-Ore.) and others have indicated informally they may offer reservations which would describe exactly what territory the U. S. will help the Nationalist Chinese defend.

Both expressed surprise that six other MIGs offered no fight when the two Red planes got into obvious trouble. The other six zoomed away instead of joining the fight.

"If the situation had been reversed," Williams said, "you can bet the other American planes would have come to the aid of any stricken plane."

The two MIGs were destroyed when eight of the Russian-built jets attacked an American Air Force RB45 reconnaissance bomber escorted by 12 Sabre jets about 10 miles off the coast of North Korea west of the Red capital of Pyongyang.

Both Salmon and Williams said they had no idea who was flying the attacking planes—Chinese or Russians.

Salmon said, "The whole thing took only five minutes. It's like training 2½ years for a foot race. When the race finally comes off you don't have time to think about it much or to get excited."

William Dixon Dies at Equality
William Dixon, 70, was found dead Saturday at his home in Equality. Death was due to natural causes.

He is survived by the following sisters: Mrs. Fred Kimbro, Ridgway, Mrs. Frank Mitchell and Mrs. William Fowler, both of Benton, Mrs. Ethel Rogers of Elgin, and one brother, Frank Dixon of Anna, Ill.

The funeral was held today at 2:30 p. m. at the A. K. Moore funeral home. Burial was in the Cottage Grove cemetery.

Teachers' Spring Institute Feb. 25

The Saline County Teachers' spring institute will be held at the Harrisburg Township high school on Friday, Feb. 25, R. Dale Wilson, county superintendent of schools, announced today.

This program will be planned and conducted by the Saline County Teachers' association. The association president, Dwight Karnes, and his executive committee are working on the program. Mr. Karnes is principal of Logan school.

Special Election Tomorrow on Plan to Boost HTHS Tax Rate

A special election on the proposed tax rate increase for the education fund of Harrisburg Township high school will be held from 12 noon until 7 p. m. tomorrow at the Harrisburg city hall.

The proposition seeks to increase the tax rate limit from 50 to 71 cents because the added funds are needed to carry on an acceptable program of work at the school. However, it is planned to raise the rate only a small amount if the increase is passed.

Action Under Protection of 7th Fleet, Planes

Communist Planes Disappear in Unofficial Cease-Fire

TAIPEI, Formosa (U.P.)—Troops and civilians began a bloodless evacuation of beleaguered Tachen Island today under a round-the-clock protective cover of hundreds of American fighter planes and the massed might of the U. S. 7th Fleet.

Red planes which only hours before had held complete air mastery over the island disappeared, seemingly in an unofficial ceasefire.

United Press correspondent William Miller reported late Monday night that "the most significant thing at Tachen Monday was the almost dead silence."

"No Enemy Contact Made"
A message from Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride received in Taipei at 5 p. m. (3 a. m. CST) said there had been "no enemy contact made during the current phase of the operation" and that "everything is according to schedule."

The only report of Communist activity in the Formosa Strait area came from far to the south where Red guns on the China mainland plopped four shells on Nationalist-held Quemoy Island.

Miller reported flying weather for the history-making evacuation of some 14,000 troops and 18,000 civilians was far from ideal.

But he said the giant catapults roared throughout the night, hurling jet fighters into the blackness. The giant carriers in Admiral Pride's command were taking turns filling the air with jet fighters, Banshees, Corsairs, and propeller-driven Skyraiders.

Will Fight If Attacked
The pilots' orders were to fight if attacked.

But the only apparent Communist military activity was a hustle and bustle at Red air bases near Ningpo, about 15 minutes flying time from Tachen. This activity was picked up by fleet radar operators.

Communist China, apparently under pressure of Moscow, India and Britain, pulled back the sea and air forces which have dominated the Tachens for weeks.

But Peiping Radio did not let up on its anti-American broadcasts. It warned that United States assistance in the Tachens "is fraught with an intrigue of starting a major war." Another broadcast called it a "grim war challenge."

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, in a special statement, emphasized that the troops from the Tachens were being re-deployed to Quemoy and Matsu islands for example—and that the whole program was designed to hasten the Nationalist return to the mainland.

No Communist Planes
Taipei press reports said there were no Communist planes in the air although the sky was filled with jets from the six mighty carriers of the 70-ship U. S. task force. They said Red ships which had massed less than 10 miles away were no longer in sight.

The United States threw 45,000 sailors and fleet aviators into the operation that would carry the ships within sight and shooting distance of the Communist shore. They were under orders to shoot back if they were fired on.

Another 3,000 Americans manned F-86 Sabrejet stations on Formosa to defend it against any Communist bombing attack from the mainland.

The Nationalist Air Force also flew over the area that only last week was the undisputed hunting grounds of MIG-15s.

Death Takes Mrs. Maggie Cathey, 41

Mrs. Maggie Cathey, 41, who for six years was employed at Pankey's Bakery in Harrisburg and resigned her position several months ago due to failing health, died Sunday at 2:30 a. m. at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darren Pierce in Carmi.

The funeral service was held today at 2 p. m. at the Carmi Baptist church. Rev. John L. Phillips, pastor, conducted the service, and burial was in Maple Ridge cemetery at Carmi.

The Kittinger funeral home was in charge.

China's Offshore Islands

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
For more than five years, Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government have been living off the hope that some day soon they would return to the Chinese mainland. This hope is deeply involved
in the present island combat close
off the mainland shore.

It is not only the Nationalists
on Formosa and other islands who are sustained by this hope. Millions of Chinese live abroad in other Asian lands, and most still give allegiance to Chiang. The generalissimo's stock among Chinese at home, however, was not
high when he fled the mainland
in 1949, and no one can fairly say
how many wish he could reconquer Communist-held territory. But surely there must be a sizable number.

Chiang is a political realist. According to all reports, he has understood for a long time that the only chance of fulfilling the Nationalist hope is to have the Far East flame into major war. In an all-out conflict, the Communist regime in China might be crushed to clear the way for Chi-
ang's restoration.

In such a war, of course, the major burden of assault would presumably be borne by the United States and whatever allies would lend support.

Without that kind of war, the task devolves upon Chiang's own
forces, and not even the most optimistic American congressman any longer contends that they could do
the job. From the beginning, an attack built around Nationalist
armies would always have required major naval and air assistance from the United States. That is true now, and the problem is
further complicated by the advancing age of Chiang's men.

The key fact here is that the United States is not willing to lend Chiang the air and naval aid
he would need, even if his armies
were otherwise fit for the task.
Substantially this has always been our position. The most we have ever done for him was to give him
money, equipment and technical guidance and turn him loose to do
what he could alone.

We are not even willing any longer to leave him free for whatever assault he might make on
the mainland. We have discouraged him from major activity, and our talk of a UN cease fire in the eastern area obviously is rooted in
the notion that he would be strictly limited.

Throughout Chiang's five years
on Formosa, the fringe of coastal islands has served as the frontier
from which he prodded the mainland. These were the territories
the Nationalists properly viewed as
the high watermark of their hope
for an eventual return. This very closeness to the mainland made
them an especially powerful symbol.

If they should now be lost, that
hope, actually an illusory thing all the way, would be dashed. Non-Red Chinese in many areas would understand the blunt truth. Morale
would tumble, including that of Chiang's forces on Formosa.

This is important to the United States, for whatever naval aid we are willing to throw into the defense of Formosa, we are counting
on Chiang's ground troops for whatever land action might be needed there.

So it is that we have devised a policy that we trust will somehow
keep this slim Nationalist facade
of hope standing, by fending off the Reds from at least some of the key coastal isles. We have adopted a posture intended to be sufficiently threatening to impress the Communists, but sufficiently vague
not to commit us flatly to the defense of territory without real strategic value to America.

Find Mutilated Body of New York University Co-ed

NEW YORK (AP)—Police questioned today a boy friend of Anne Yar-
row, a New York University co-ed
whose mutilated body was found
in the bedroom of a Greenwich Village apartment.

Miss Yarrow's nearly nude body
was sprawled across a mattress on
the floor of the sparsely furnished apartment.

She had been stabbed 40 times
and mutilated from her neck to her ankles. Only her face was not disfigured.

Chief medical examiner Dr. Milton Helsen said the 23-year-old
honors graduate of a Quaker college
in North Carolina died as the result of "homicidal sexual assault."

An autopsy will be performed today to determine whether exact
cause of death was "strangulation,
multiple stab wounds or mutila-
tion."

Police brought in several friends
of the dead girl for questioning,
among them Ernest Jackson, 39, a Negro.

Jackson, described as a "quite close" friend of Miss Yarrow, was questioned almost continuously for 14 hours. He was picked up by police Sunday at 3 p. m. and released
at 5 a. m. today.

Police refused to disclose what,
if anything, they had learned about
the crime from Jackson.

Police said Jackson attended
classes with the slain woman and
the two worked together on a human relations project.

Even Rumors Affecting Stock Are Investigated by SEC

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—In addition to the stock market investigation which Senator J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) will direct as chairman of the Senate Banking
and Currency Committee, the U. S.
Securities and Exchange Commission under Chairman Ralph Demmler keeps a constant check
on all trading and exchanges.

SEC never makes public announcements of the market fluctuations it is investigating. But any stock that goes up or down against
the trend automatically starts an SEC checkup.

Even rumors that may have
some effect on stock prices are run down by SEC to see if there is evidence of manipulation. Many rumors SEC may never hear about. But newspaper stories, advertising, radio and television comments in this field are all fair
game for SEC investigations to protect the investing public.

SEC takes this action under its authority from the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934.

THE LAW GIVES SEC authority
to regulate exchanges, brokers and over-the-counter dealers. There are prohibitions against misrepresentation, manipulation and other
fraudulent or deceptive devices in
purchase and sale of securities.

The usual procedure for an SEC
investigation in this field—if evidence of irregularity is uncovered
—is to issue an order for formal hearings. These are held before a "hearing commissioner" who
may take evidence under oath.

The hearing commissioner then
makes a report to the full five-
member commission, which reviews the evidence. SEC may take
three main courses of action:

1: It may revoke the license of
the broker and expel him or suspend him from further trading on the exchange.

If a broker feels that he has been unjustly dealt with, he may
go to court and petition that SEC's
disciplinary action be lifted.

2: SEC itself may go to court
and request an injunction order
to stop irregular practices.

In one recent case of this kind,
the government got an injunction
against a promoter who had given misleading information to a New York financial writer. Clippings of the resulting publicity were used to tout a stock. This practice was stopped.

THREE: SEC may also start
criminal proceedings in the courts,
through Department of Justice district attorneys. Actions are brought against dealers or others who have used illegal means to promote the sale of a stock or influence trading on the exchanges. Penalties
are two years' imprisonment, $10,- 000 fine, or both, on conviction.

There have not been too many court tests of this section of the SEC act. Evidence is hard to get
and proof of conspiracy to defraud
the public is difficult to establish before a court. In all, not more than half a dozen of these cases
have gone to trial since the act
was passed in 1934.

SEC officials will not say whether they are investigating it or not,
but financial papers have said it would be naive to suppose that there would be no government follow-up on the recent Walter Winchell TV tip on Pantepec Oil Co.
stock.

IN A SUNDAY NIGHT broadcast, the attention of listeners was directed to this company which owns petroleum rights in Venezuela.

The American Stock Exchange
price had closed at 6 1/4 the week
before. When the market opened Monday morning there was a mysterious delay in a quotation. Orders for over 350,000 shares had piled up. The initial price posted was 8 1/4—a jump of 2 1/4 or over 30
per cent.

Total trading for the day was 488,600 shares—the largest volume ever traded in a single stock on
this exchange and over 25 per cent
of the day's business.

Many of the trading orders were traced to Florida. But it has not been disclosed whether investigations have shown that buyers or sellers knew about or planted a tip
to induce sales.

Such action by any person would obviously run afoul of the anti-
manipulation sections of the SEC
act.

Since this telecast tip, the price
of Pantepec has declined to around 7 1/4.

The warning which government
officials now give to the investing public as a result of this case is to be extremely wary of all tips
in a boom market on which the unprofessional investor can easily
get hurt.

Sugar Logan wasn't waiting at the appointed place as Crotch put
his steamboat against the mud
bank at Yuma. The captain stepped ashore, hurrying toward Fernand Modest's store, still searching for Logan.

The trading establishment was
a long, barnlike interior, with shelves piled high with merchandise from the East. Modest did a prosperous business with post soldier, redman and miner on the trail.

The trader stepped out from be-

"A Merry Christmas, Captain! Am very glad to see you!" A broad smile touched Modest's face.

"The same," Crotch acknowl-
edged. "Where is he? What happened to that chiseler for La Paz Milling Company?"

"Too bad, Captain. This man
Logan, the one you persist in calling your friend, went upriver this morning on the Claramore. I tried to call attention to the fact that you are dependent on his contract
for La Paz ore—but it was no use.
What can mortal man do, when
the devil works his way in us?"
and Modest quickly made the sign of the cross.

"The end of our contract," Crotch
murmured. "If I could get my hands around Jamison's neck! Don't these poor fools know his smooth talk is only a lie? That man will triple our rates as soon
as I'm off the river."

"Of course. And his Amador
has been towed to dry dock at Port Isabel. I saw her go below
Yuma a few weeks ago."

The years' Navigation steamer
that for years had fought Crotch
tooth and nail was indeed being rebuilt.

"Always something for men like Ben Goss and Melott and me," Crotch nodded. But he knew the combine was fighting ruthlessly up
and down the river to prevent him
carrying a pound of cargo.

Climbing onto his gangplank, he found his Cocopahs had already transferred most of their cargo
to the landing on their backs. A woman stepped up beside the gangplank, waiting to talk to him. It was Queenie, completely outfitted
in skirt and new coat that had kept him from recognizing her until he was close.

"Captain," she said, giving him
that faint smile, "I want to go with you."

Her presence put undeniable new life into him. He felt the rebound
of a lighter mood that had been completely out of him for weeks.
But her appearance was complicated
and his face lost little of its
frown. He said shortly:

"It would have been best had
you gone with the stage."

"But not nearly so exciting. Everybody's going upriver. All the strays and the miscreants you've
sent to Lavinsky. Will there be room
in camp for me?"

His voice was sharpened by regret. "I'm sorry; I've got no statement to offer."

She gave him a half-believing
side glance. "You're not lying?"

"No. The preacher—Armond Snodgrass—took my last."

She gave an expressive movement with both her hands, laid one lightly against his chest. "The man who bought Dreyfus's claim
has followed me to Yuma. Captain,
I don't want to meet him."

He gave her a long, full study.
There was no despair in Queenie,
no anxiety. He didn't believe fear
held her back from meeting this
man. It puzzled him how a woman
thus impudently as she had become with Calhoun in salting a worthless vein could remain so calm.

"Do you have any luggage?"

"Oh, yes! China Boy has already taken my bags to a storehouse.
He told me it would be No. 3."

"That Chinaman!"

Crotch pulled his look back over Melott. "Now what's up?" he asked.

"You didn't meet Goss?"

"Where should I have met him?"
A brittleness came to Melott's
vision, a hard wisdom that the river had taught in its own grim ways. "Ben got a message. One of the Mexican street boys came up and said you wanted to see him. About Sugar Logan."

"It's Jamison!" Crotch groaned.
"One of those cutthroats has got Ben this time!"

Melott nodded, turned in beside Crotch, starting with him over the gangplank. But Crotch stopped him short.

"Jim, you better watch the boat.
I'll go after Ben."

A crowd before one of the liquor
dens confirmed his worst fears.
The place was a retreat that catered
to the river crowd, a squalid
adobe building known as El Man-
zana—the Apple.

Ben Goss was inside the cleared
barroom, sitting upright on the floor. He was in wretched condition, sawdust and floor refuse
matted against one side of his head. The blood gushed from a knot on his forehead. Crotch burst into the liquor-reeking chamber at
the same moment a marshal was stepping up behind his mate and
jerking him to his feet.

Crotch grabbed up a stool that
had rolled near the street entrance,
set it beneath Goss as the marshal lifted him from the floor.
Goss sat with his back to the wall,
a thick, dull stare about his face.
"Water!" Crotch yelled at the bartender.

Two Republican
Groups to Hold
Lincoln Meetings

CHICAGO (AP)—About 2,500 Republicans from all parts of the country were expected to meet
here Saturday in what is billed as
"one of the biggest" GOP conferences since the 1952 convention.

The Republicans plan to pay $5
apiece to attend sessions lasting
from 9:30 to 5 p. m. on Abraham Lincoln's birthday and to listen to a batch of top GOP speakers.

Those scheduled to speak include
Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen
of Illinois, Sen. George W. Malone
of Nevada and Utah Gov. J.
Bracken Lee.

The meeting is sponsored by the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club, an offshoot of the regular GOP, and five other organizations. Its theme is "What must
the Republican Party do in 1955
to preserve the republic and itself."

Oddly enough, local and state
party leaders knew nothing—officially—of the meeting.

The groups can hardly help coming in contact, because they're
both meeting in the Morrison Hotel. The daylong Illinois meeting,
an annual affair, will feature a speech by Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell.

State GOP Chairman Morton H.
Hollingsworth said "I don't know anything about the other meeting
except what the papers carried."

Both GOP groups probably will
bump into quite a few Democrats,
also.

The Morrison Hotel is the Chicago and Cook County Democratic headquarters.

NO LOST ADS FOR

The writer has always taken
with a pinch of salt the praise
of intelligence of parakeets by the pet owners. But, whereas a few months ago there was a
lost parakeet in the classifieds
every few days, it must be admitted that these birds have sensed enough to stay in out of the cold. Not a lost bird in the whole winter—so far.

Dogs are different, especially hunting dogs who can hardly be kept within home
limits during brisk winter
weather. The latest absentee belongs to that outdoor sports-
loving band leader, Marshall Cottrah.

One Register classified that
has not obtained results which
is rather surprising is a help-
wanted one, by a large department store in the central part of the state. Some boys' wear salesman or woman is overlooking a golden opportunity
by failure to read Daily Register

Leach's petrels, which feed as far as 100 miles off the Maine
shore, never come to land except to nest. They avoid the mainland
because their burrows are vulnerable to predatory animals.

14 Members of St. Louis Symphony Orchestra Injured

CLIFTON FORGE, Va.—The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra today resumed its southern tour minus 14 of the 14 musicians who were injured in the crash of a Greyhound bus.

The crash of the bus, which was carrying 32 members of the orchestra, caused officials to cancel Sunday night's scheduled appearance at Portsmouth, Ohio.

Six of those hurt were members of the string section and five others played horns.

The bus, one of three sections carrying the orchestra to Portsmouth Sunday morning, skidded on icy pavement and crashed into a dangerous underpass abutment three miles west of here.

The injured, mostly suffering facial cuts and bruises, were rushed to the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad hospital for treatment. None was seriously hurt and only three of them had to remain here overnight.

State trooper Herbert Overstreet said no charges would be placed against the driver, E. C. Willis, Granite City, Ill., who also received facial injuries. Witnesses said a number of other musicians suffered lesser injuries but refused hospitalization.

The orchestra, in its final week of a three-week tour, had given a Saturday night concert at Roanoke, Va. The accident occurred shortly after the group left early Sunday for Portsmouth.

SIU Freshman Girl to Compete Feb. 14 For Miss Rural Electrification Title

Because a determined, fun-loving, golden-haired Kampsville (Calhoun county, Ill.) farm girl caught a greased pig at a 4-H club achievement day contest five years ago she today is financing her own college education.

That girl is Bonnie Bunch, pert 18-year-old, blue-eyed blond freshman cheerleader at Southern Illinois university, Carbondale. She will be competing at Atlantic City on Valentine Day, Feb. 14, for the title, "Miss Rural Electrification of 1955."

There she will be among state queens representing rural electric cooperative associations in 42 states and Alaska. They will compete for the national title as nearly 5,000 persons gather for the annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association Feb. 14-17. Some 800 rural electric cooperatives representing 3,000,000 farmers are members.

Bonnie qualified for the Atlantic City trip by winning the "Miss Illinois Rural Electrification" title at Springfield in September after being chosen queen of the district cooperative at Winchester (Ill.).

Being queen isn't exactly new for Bonnie. She was crowned Miss Illinois Fruit Queen in September, 1953, at the state fruit festival in Murphysboro, where she competed as Calhoun County Apple Queen. (Nearly three-fourths of the state's commercially produced apples are grown in and around Calhoun county.)

Bonnie is modestly quiet about her accomplishments, but as state fruit queen she represented the Illinois fruit industry during the past year at conventions, presented bushels of apples and peaches to Illinois Governor Stratton, and appeared on some television shows. During four years at the Calhoun Community Unit District No. 40 high school in Hardin, seven miles from Kampsville, she was picked by fellow students as Most Popular one year and as Most Athletic another. In becoming a cheerleader at SIU she is carrying on an activity which started in the seventh grade.

Catching Pig Was Fun
There was more than just the fun of participation behind the greased pig catching episode when she was a high school freshman busy with 4-H club activities in the home neighborhood near Kampsville. Pig scrambles were a regular feature of the annual 4-H club's achievement project. Catching a well-greased, squealing 40-pound pig wasn't any picnic but it was riotous fun, she recalls. The scramble involved releasing ten high grade pigs, well-greased, in a pen for 4-Hers to "catch for keeps," providing both fun and profit.

Bonnie's first catch, a fine gilt, formed the basis for her beef and pork enterprise. She raised the pig to a sow, then sold the sow and a litter of pigs and used the proceeds to buy a registered Hereford heifer. To stay in the pork business Bonnie caught a greased pig in each of the next two annual "scrambles." Her present livestock holdings include a cow and heifer, a sow, eight pigs and a gilt. She expects her livestock income to go far in seeing her through four years at Southern Illinois University where she is preparing herself to become a teacher of high school physical education. She received a $100 scholarship from the Sphinx Shrine Club (Carbondale) in her first year at SIU.

Likes Farm Life
Bonnie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bunch, grain and livestock farmers, are looking after her animals while she is away. Farming runs in the Bunch family. Bonnie likes farm life. Her older sisters are married to farmers. Two of them, Mrs. Paul Brangenberg and Mrs. Edward Hobsman, live near Kampsville. The other, Mrs. Victor Seidler, lives near Carrollton, just across the Illinois river in Greene county.

Student activities of an athletic type always have appealed to Bonnie. Basketball and baseball are her favorite sports.

"Making friends and meeting people are my chief hobbies, I guess," she adds with a sparkling smile.

State Supervisors To Visit Schools

Supervisors from the office of the state superintendent of public instruction at Springfield are slated to visit schools in Saline county this week. They plan to visit those rural schools that were not visited last year.

Proposal to Investigate Toll Roads Major Topic for Legislative Committee

SPRINGFIELD 4P—The Illinois Legislature will hold its first batch of committee hearings of its 1955 session Tuesday, with a proposal to investigate toll road plans a major topic.

The House and Senate will meet Tuesday morning, and are expected to adjourn sometime Wednesday for at least two weeks—until city primary elections in Chicago and elsewhere are over.

Toll roads are due for an airing before the House Executive Committee, which will hear testimony at 4 p. m. Tuesday on a resolution to investigate the Illinois Toll Highway Commission.

Rep. Jack Bairstow, Waukegan, and five other Democrats, joined by Republican W. O. Verhines, Vienna, sponsored the resolution. They said the "wisdom" of the 1953 law setting up the commission "should be reviewed."

Would Probe Commission

Their resolution would create a seven-member House committee, which would conduct an investigation and report back to the House by March 29.

The investigation would cover the activities of the commission, Select Cast for Second Operetta At HTHS Feb. 24

"The Lowland Sea," the other operetta to be presented at the Harrisburg Township high school Feb. 24 along with "Sunday Excursion," has recently been cast by John Schork.

The story of this operetta concerns a sailor—Johnny Dee, played by Fred Kinnaman, and Dorie Davis, his sweetheart—played by Dorothy Hanning. It seems that when the Scarlet Sail, a ship owned by Johnny, prepares to sail from Scarlet Town to Singapore, Dorie and Johnny swear to be true to each other always.

Before the return of the ship to Scarlet Town, malaria suddenly strikes Johnny, making him unable to return to Dorie; but the ship's crew makes the journey anyway and is wrecked before arriving at its destination.

Back in Scarlet Town, a middle age widower—Nathaniel Hazard—who also has three children, has been trying to marry Dorie while Johnny is gone. When Dorie finally hears the news of the wrecked ship and believing Johnny to be dead, she marries Nathaniel. Meanwhile Johnny has regained his health and sails back home only to find Dorie married. Johnny then sails away from Dorie forever since there is no way to be found for reuniting the two people, though Dorie is still in love with him.

"Sunday Excursion" is the other operetta to also be presented Feb. 24 at HTHS. Admission for the operetta is 50 cents for adults and 40 cents for students.

McCarthy Says Red Official Aided Senator

Refuses to Name Democrat; Urges Committee Hearing

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today demanded "more information" on his charge that a Democratic senator received a $300 campaign contribution from a Communist official.

The added information, he said, might be gained by calling the senator before a senatorial committee to testify under oath.

McCarthy made the charge in a weekend visit to Milwaukee. He refused to name the senator, saying he ought to have a chance to defend himself.

"I want more information," he said.

Although the Wisconsin Republican first made the accusation when he arrived Saturday night, he did not mention it in a speech before a business group Sunday night.

Nor did he refer to an added charge that three congressmen he believes to be Democrats received $100 each from the same Communist official.

Praise for Administration
Instead, he gave guarded praise to the Eisenhower administration, but warned "I never intend to be a rubber stamp."

It was the first time McCarthy has found kind words to say for the Republican administration in many months.

McCarthy did not identify the Communist official who made the alleged campaign contributions. However, he said he was a West Coast party figure and a known Red.

McCarthy said the information about the senator was dug up by a Senate committee investigator, Charles Tracy, within the past five weeks.

Tracy was fired from his job with the Senate investigating subcommittee because of the disclosures, McCarthy charged.

"A West Coast Communist Party official" first sent the Democratic senator a letter and a $300 check, McCarthy said.

The senator returned the check and received a $300 bank draft in its place, McCarthy said. He said the bank draft was cashed.

The check is in subcommittee files "available to anyone on the committee," McCarthy said. "There's no secret about it," McCarthy said. "If it had been, he (Tracy) wouldn't have been fired."

"It was known to the chairman, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.), and that was the reason he (Tracy) was fired," McCarthy told newsmen.

Tracy turned up the information about the alleged Communist campaign contribution while he was investigating Red infiltration of defense plants, McCarthy said.

Reserve Ass'n Urges Minute Men Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reserve Officers Assn. today urged rapid establishment of a ready reserve of 1 million combat-equipped minute men to help safeguard the nation against enemy attack.

The citizen defenders would be trained for mobilization within a minimum of 30 minutes for aviation units to a maximum of 30 days for army troops. It would be organized fully by Jan. 1, 1956.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, president of the ROA, unveiled the plan at a news conference Sunday. He emphasized it is designed to speed up President Eisenhower's national reserve program rather than to substitute for it.

Mr. Eisenhower's program for a ready reserve force of 2-950,000 men and a 2 million-man standby reserve. Both would be composed of volunteers, if possible, or of draftees, if necessary. Target date is 1959.

Association officials said this is "too long to wait."

In addition to the 1 million minute men, the ROA plan envisions a support force of 500,000 men and a "mobilization reserve" of 1,500,000 who would be available for active duty "only upon congressional declaration of need."

To Open Hearings

The ROA program was made public only two days before the Senate Armed Services Committee opens hearings on military manpower. The hearings, beginning on Tuesday, will include the administration's reserve program, which already is running into congressional objections, in addition to other armed forces personnel problems.

The President's program came under heavy attack Sunday from the National Council against Conscription.

The council said in a 36-page booklet that "America will differ from Russia in name only" if Congress approves Mr. Eisenhower's plan. It declared that "freedom from military servitude is as much a part of the American way of life as freedom of speech and religion."

Under the ROA plan, present night school type training would be ended for the ready reserve. Instead reserves would spend one week-end a month at training establishments.

Vision is cut down slightly at night by tinted windshields for most persons, but a few motorists are able to see a bit better.

Eden Deplores Red China Rebuff To United Nations

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Minister Anthony Eden today "deplored" Red China's rebuff to the United Nations, but held out hope that "other means and methods" could bring about a Formosan cease-fire.

"Conversations are taking place between a number of governments on this matter — and diplomacy must be given its chance to do some work about this," he said.

Eden's appearance in Commons coincided with unofficial reports that both he and India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru had urged Communist China to observe a "hands off policy" in Sino-American evacuation of the Tachen Islands.

Eden, however, denied a report that Britain had urged Russia to use her good offices with the Reds to ease the American-covered withdrawal from Tachen.

He said there had been no specific reference to evacuation of Tachen in the Anglo-Soviet talks.

Eden said the Foreign Office hopes the Tachen evacuation "will contribute to a cessation of Communist attacks and to the restoration of peace and security in the Western Pacific."

Hoover Praises Boy Scout Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover welcomed representatives of the nation's 12 Boy Scout regions here today as scouting celebrated its 45th anniversary.

Hoover complimented the scouts for developing "a program for the future that should be rewarding individually for your growing membership and collectively for every citizen of our country."

The Boy Scout representatives will climax their visit to Washington Tuesday by calling on President Eisenhower.

Regional Grade School Tournament Begins Wednesday at Junior High School

The Harrisburg Junior high school gymnasium will be the site of the regional grade school basketball tournament, with play starting at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Seven schools from this area will participate. Five were assigned directly to regional competition and the other two advanced by taking honors in the 13-team district meet held at Equality last week.

There will be three games Wednesday afternoon, two Thursday evening and two Friday evening.

Admission is 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for students.

Officials are Ira Stille of Harrisburg, Jerry Duane of Galatia and Howard Street, Carrier Mills.

Three trophies will be awarded and the winner and runner-up team

Equality Routs To 81-43 Victory Over Mills Prairie

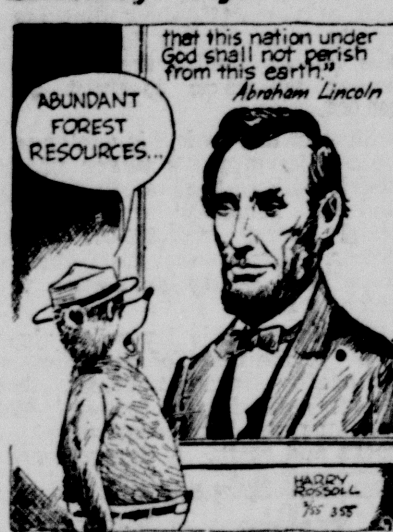

In a game played Friday night at Mills Prairie, Equality's Cardinals swamped the host school, 81-43.

The outcome was never in doubt after Equality jumped out to a 25-8 quarter advantage. The Cards piled up a 47-20 halftime margin and went on to a 64-28 third quarter edge.

Coach "Kayo" Willis didn't use a senior in his lineup throughout the final quarter, as the team breezed on to victory.

Locals Lead All the Way To Boost Season Record To 7 Wins, 11 Losses

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs boosted their season's record to seven wins against 11 losses when they beat Rantoul, 62-51, in a cage tilt at Davenport gym Saturday night.

The local boys led all the way in this conquest of the school about 16 miles north of Champaign. In winning the Bull Dogs, who started slow, hit a fine 49 per cent from the field, connecting with 28 field goals in 59 attempts. In contrast, the Rantoul boys hit 17 out of 59 shots for a percentage of 29.

Lawrence Caluffetti, Bull Pup coach, again had charge of the locals because of the illness of Coach Gene Bland.

Harrisburg outscored Rantoul in every quarter, leading 13-9 at the end of the first period, 27-20 at halftime and 39-22 at the end of the third quarter. The tempo speeded up during the final stanza, in which both teams hit well and the locals made 23 points to 22 for the opposition.

Polk is High Scorer
The Bull Dog scoring was well balanced, all five of the starters doing well from the field. High point man for the first time this year was Charles Polk, who usually plays a good floor game but does little scoring. Polk made seven field goals and a free throw for 15 points, six of his baskets coming on shots from the outside and one on a fast-break layup.

Dave Harrison had 14, Dave Anglin 13, Gerald Wasson 10 and Don Price 8. Wasson, who took over the duties of first string center only Friday night, played an excellent ball game. Most of his points came on tip-ins despite the presence of Rantoul's 6-6 center, Moran.

For Rantoul, Moran and Stewart tied for scoring honors with 12 each.

Harrisburg, so hot against Mt. Vernon Friday night in a foot throw department, picked a good night to be cool in this department. Against Rantoul the local hit for only four out of 15, compared with Rantoul's 17 out of 26.

The Bull Pups won their contest, too, beating the Rantoul reserves 61-39 as Caluffetti's boys put up a well-balanced attack. Rantoul led 10-7 at the quarter but Harrisburg scored 23 points the second frame to lead 39-18 at halftime. The count was 48-27 at the end of the third quarter.

For the Pups, Bennie Fulkerson had 13 points, Bill Henshaw and Wayne Stone 12 each, Bryan Jones 10, John Ziegler 8 and Charles Cummins, Bill Bottomley and Jim Cummins two each. Bob Shewmake, Melvin Hicks and Trevor Whiteside also played.

The Bull Dogs have but one contest this week, travelling to Centralia for a South Seven contest Friday night.

Eagles Flash Power to Trip Galatia, 80-52

Flashing their best power of the season, the Eldorado Eagles trounced Galatia Saturday night, 80-52. The game was played on the Eldorado floor.

Connecting for 27 fielders and 26 free tosses, the Eagles ran up their highest score of the year—80 points. This, coupled with 72 scored against Morris City Friday, gave Eldorado a fine total of 152 markers in two nights before home folks.

The Eldorado attack was consistent with 19 in the first quarter, 20 points in each the second and third and 21 in the final. Except for a short time in the early stages, when Galatia held a short-lived 4-1 advantage, Eldorado was on the long end of the score.

However Galatia numbered the game's top scorer in its ranks. Glen Clarida, Galatia captain and a top notch performer, paced all the scorers with 10 field goals and a like number of free tosses to total 30 points.

Ed Lissak's 29 points were high for Eldorado. Lissak, playing well under the basket, had nine field goals and eleven free tosses in as many tries.

Whitler opened the scoring with a free toss, then Clarida, on two occasions, hit a pair of charity throws and Galatia led 4-1. Eldorado, with Clark, Whitler and Lissak sharing the offensive, rolled for 10 consecutive points while holding Galatia scoreless and an 11-4 advantage. From that point on the Eagles were in command.

The preliminary game also resulted in an Eldorado win, 79-36. Tuesday night Eldorado will be host to the Fairfield Mules.

Next game on tap for Galatia is Friday, when Equality comes to Galatia for a Greater Egyptian Conference game.

Illinois Plays Michigan Tonight After Record 104-89 Win Over Northwestern

CHICAGO (AP)—Two of the Big Ten's three basketball leaders, Minnesota and Illinois, face second division competition tonight in the highlight games on a three-game conference schedule.

The Gophers, sharing first place with Iowa with five wins in seven games, play at home against sixth-place Ohio State, while Illinois, a half-game out of first place with four wins in six contests, travels to seventh-place Michigan.

Both the Gophers and the Illini were favored to win with an upset more likely against Minnesota than against Illinois. Ohio State boasts the league-leading scorer in Robin Freeman, averaging 30 points per game, while teammate John Miller is fifth in scoring with a 23.6 point per game mark.

Against this pair of shotmakers, the Gophers can muster Dick Garmaker, fourth in league scoring with a 26.2 average, and Chuck Mencil, 16th with a 17-point count. Illinois, however, twice has set scoring records for the school, establishing a new record first with 99 points against Indiana and exceeding that Saturday with a 104-89 decision over Northwestern.

The Illini have Billy Ridley in 10th place in scoring with a 19.3 mark while Michigan's leader is Tom Jorgensen with 17.8.

Judson Scores 31 Points
The third conference game on Monday's program pits Wisconsin at Indiana in a match between the two teams tied for eighth place. Michigan State, in undisputed fourth place after a 73-70 win over Wisconsin Saturday, plays at Notre Dame in a non-league affair.

Paul Judson of Illinois turned in the outstanding individual performance Saturday with 31 points against Northwestern while a pair of Millers, John of Ohio State and Dick of Wisconsin, each netted 28 points.

Iowa whipped Purdue, 76-67, in the Saturday television game to climb into a first place deadlock with Minnesota as Milt Scheuerman tallied 23 points.

Ohio State downed Indiana, 99-87, as Freeman dropped 23 points compared to 22 for Don Schlundt, Indiana's star point-maker who has won the conference scoring title for the past two years.

Michigan overwhelmed Los Angeles State in a non-league match, 92-39.

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Cumberland, Rockford West, Centralia and most other top-flight Illinois prep basketball clubs came through weekend tests unsundered today.

Other highly regarded teams that overcame weekend forces included Pinckneyville, Princeton, Moline, Edwardsville, Decatur, Thornton of Harvey, Alton and Pekin.

Cumberland, a "little David" hoping to make its second straight trip to the Sweet 16 state finals next month, topped Paris for the second time this season, 80-70.

The triumph came in the championship game of the Eastern Illinois league tournament at Casey, and gave the Pirates a 22-0 won-lost mark.

Rockford West, ranked No. 1 state title prospect last week by the United Press board of coaches, was forced to go all-out to get by La Salle-Peoria 48-45 in a Big Eight match Friday night.

But the Warriors bounced back to shatter Sterling, a strong northern Illinois five, by an impressive 93-55 margin Saturday night. That gives the West team 16 wins in 17 contests.

Centralia, listed No. 2 in the U. P. poll, easily knocked off Benton 70-47 Friday and then squeezed out a 61-60 win over Collinsville, which ranked sixth in the poll last week.

Pinckneyville Wins
It was the second straight setback for the Kahoks, who were surprised 55-53 by St. Louis University High Friday night.

Moline came up with a pair of wins over Northwestern teams, wallowing East Moline 55-36 and edging Davenport 67-56. Unbeaten Princeton kept its string intact with an 83-54 beating of Geneseo.

Pinckneyville, which suffered its first loss of the season at the hands of Centralia a week earlier, stopped Chester 53-43 in a Southwestern Egyptian conference game Saturday.

Edwardsville's Tigers trounced Taylorville 82-57 Saturday, after having trimmed Granite City 90-57 the previous night. Alton also tucked away two wins, 66-64 over Wood River and 86-67 over McLeansboro.

Decatur and Pekin remained on top of the pile in the Big 12. Decatur downed Mattoon 55-46 and Springfield 82-72, while Pekin nipped Mattoon 56-54 in two overtimes and beat Peoria Manual 75-53—all conference games. Decatur leads the league with a 9-0 mark, with Pekin right behind at 8-0.

During spring, summer and fall, at least 36 species of fish enter New York harbor from the sea, says the National Geographic Society. These include most of the common eastern seaboard fishes, as well as occasional tuna and colorful tropical strays such as butterfly fish and triggerfish.

INTERNATIONAL RAPIDS SECTION of St. Lawrence River shows 35-mile stretch where 2,200,000 horsepower hydro-electric project is being built, with major dams and towns that will disappear under water. New York and Ontario are project partners.

Billion Dollar St. Lawrence Seaway Begins to Grow

By JAMES MONTAGNES
NEA Special Correspondent

CORNWALL, Canada (NEA)—Actual work on the St. Lawrence River Seaway—the huge international project which was planned and debated for 40 years—is finally under way.

Since the U. S. and Canada agreed last year to give the project the green light, things have been moving swiftly. On both sides of the border, workmen and engineers have been scrambling about all winter tackling the first construction jobs.

When they're finished in five or six years, the long and treacherous St. Lawrence will become a safe navigation channel for big sea-going freighters—and a major new source of electrical power in New York and Ontario.

For the thousands who'll do the work and those who'll supply the materials, the $1,000,000,000 venture means new and well-paying jobs which may touch off some localized booms.

For the vast Great Lakes industrial region, it means a new route to market which the planners say will stimulate business.

And for the 6500 Canadians who live in the path of progress, it means good-bye to their homes.

As the army of workmen moves forward, it will face the unpleasant task of flooding completely or partly eight Canadian towns. About 6500 persons will have to move to new homes; roads will have to be relocated; churches, cemeteries and landmarks will be covered with the water of a new reservoir.

This is the part of the project that is causing the most concern. Those who will have to move claim the money offered for homes and farms is too small to pay for new ones.

Complaints have become so loud that Ontario's Premier Leslie Frost has stepped in to promise fair treatment.

Meanwhile, surveys taken in the towns themselves—Morrisburg, Iroquois, Multsville, Farran Point, Dickinson Landing, Wales, MoulINETTE, Mille Roches, and part of Cornwall—show that most people want to stay in the area. The bill for finding them suitable homes will come to about $70,000,000.

Most of the work this winter will be on the project's power phase, which will cost about $600,000,000 and will someday turn out electrical energy of 2,200,000 horsepower. First power from the international generating station will come in 1958.

The countryside for miles about hums to the tune of construction. At nearby Barnhart Island, two large cofferdams, 500 and 4500 feet long, are being constructed of rocks and earth. A five-mile area

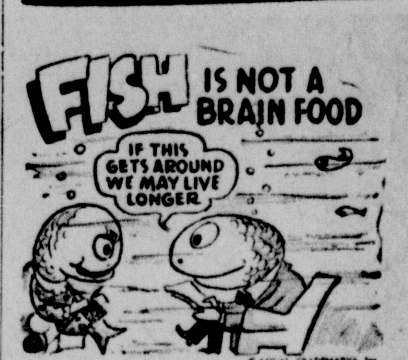

Former Resident of Ridgway Dies

Mrs. Ollie Wolf Cheatum, 60, former resident of Ridgway, died Saturday afternoon at her home in Fulton, Ky.

Services were held today at 2 p. m. at the home of a sister, Mrs. Pearl Pittman in Ridgway. Rev. L. C. Irby, local Baptist minister, officiated, and burial was in the Jackson cemetery.

She leaves her husband, Lester, and the following children: Mrs. Earl Tate, Mrs. Clutha English and Clayton Wolf, all of Chicago, Mrs. Lawrence Davis of Ridgway and Vernon Wolf of Harrisburg.

Plants in Bedrooms Are Not Unhealthful.

The U. S. Public Health Service says there is no scientific basis for the belief that plants are especially injurious to the human body during the night. Non-poisonous plants are beneficial rather than harmful in sleeping rooms, according to the director of scientific work in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, I. "Popular Questions Answered"—Geo. W. Bookings Nearly Complete for Area Folk Festival

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Bookings were nearly completed today for the first Southern Illinois Folk Festival, to be held at Southern Illinois university Feb. 24.

Singers, dancers, fiddlers and story tellers, some of them coming from as far distant as the Chicago area, will be featured in matinee and evening performances on the festival program in Shroyok Auditorium.

Sarah Gertrude Knott, director of the National Folk Festival association, has been serving as consultant for the regional event and will supervise both performances here.

Among the groups appearing in the festival will be the Folk Valley Singers from the Chicago area, La Guianee singers from Prairie du Rocher, and a Lithuanian Folk Dance group from East St. Louis.

The Jackson County Rural Youth group will present a chautauqui, SIU Sing and Swing club members will entertain with a husking bee, and Carbondale Girl Scouts will offer riddles and riddle songs. Included also will be Indian dancers from the Egyptian Council of Boy Scouts, Negro spiritual singers, and Lincoln School of Carbondale youngsters performing rope skipping and singing games.

Norman Caldwell of the University history department will tell how cities and towns of the area got their names, and SIU students from foreign countries will present "Folk Songs from Other Lands."

David McIntosh, folk music specialist in the SIU music department, will render ballads and folk songs and will play shepherd's pipes he makes as a hobby. John Allen, well-known Southern Illinois Historian who is on the university faculty, will speak on some "Legends and 'Tall Tales'" from the area, and he will be in charge of craft and art exhibits to be held in conjunction with the festival.

McIntosh and Allen are on the executive committee for the festival, with General Chairman C. Horton Talley, acting director of the SIU Division of Communications, and William J. Tudor, associate director of Area Services. Mrs. Stewart Chandler of Carbondale is helping to coordinate plans for the event.

Industrial Jargon Needs Interpreter

BOSTON (AP)—Workers in Boston's employment security office sometimes wonder what the English—or is it the American?—language is coming to.

Modern industry, it seems, has an ever-increasing number of peculiar terms to describe various jobs, and these frequently throw the office for a loss.

For example, a placement expert might pick up the phone and hear a voice asking for a slubber-doffer right away.

"A what?" the expert asks. "A slubber-doffer. And while you're at it, you might send along a pay cheater."

Thomas Mersandante, the employment security manager, has kept abreast of most of industry's colloquialisms, but sometimes even he draws a blank.

Employers report openings for screen apes, nose crimpers, pickling and passivating men, bat-boys, knockout men, back-breakers, crumb packers, snow men and raisin washers. What do they mean?

Well, according to Mersandante, a screen ape shakes water from particles of raw synthetic rubber on mechanically agitated machines.

A nose crimper places containers over the ends of metal aircraft lights. A pickling and passivating man coats metal parts with a protective film to prevent corroding.

A knockout man frees metal castings from inverted molds and a backbreaker removes surface crust from aluminum reduction pots. A batboy removes the felt from machine spindles.

A snow man chops ice and heavy frost from refrigeration pipes, and a crumb packer is actually an expert who can fill holes evenly. A pay cheater is a timekeeper and a slubber-doffer splices broken yarn.

A raisin washer? "That's easy," Mersandante said. "He washes raisins."
